Frankfort Paper Calls Story in Pan-German Press Probably a Canard.

Insinuations Add to Feeling of Uncertainty Among Teuton People.

A mysterious plot against Fleid Marshal you Hindenburg and Gen, you Ludendorff, especially against the latter, alleged to be engineered by the Entente to bring about the collapse of the German army, is discussed in a recent issue of the Frankfurter Zeitung, copies issue of the Frankfurter Zcitung, copies of which have just reached New York. The article in part is as follows:

"Unhappily we are obliged to admit that the miserable method of suspecting of disloyalty all those who downt or criticise is no longer new in Germany. In France this unhealthy trend of thought has developed to a considerable degree, but there are many signs that with us, too, a mood is forming which favors similar symptoms. store booths.

Six of the largest printing concerns in the city kept their presses in operation yesterday to turn out 2,500,000 copies of the subscription forms which will be used to-day. The description of the Torms was received by telegram from Washington Saturday night, delayed on account of the lateness of the passage of the act authorizing the loan. The message had to be confirmed by telephone, and then a rush call was made on the printers. By 9 o'clock this morning 2,000,000 forms will be ready for distribution throughout the Second Federal Reserve district.

As long as Von Ludendorff is in the present place, "the story goes on, there is no thought of peace possible. Does that mean that the Entente will make the removal of Von Ludendorff a pre-condition of peace? That would be so stupid that we cannot attribute such a plan to any of the Entente Governments. The necessity for rushing men to training camps and to Europe is such that the Department has about lost patience with the House. The bill has passed the Senate.

This proposed amendment goes further than the furlough bill recently passed and would give deferred classification to farmers as a class While the amendment doubtless will muster a considerable number of supporters, the chances are regarded as against its approval.

Under the Crowder plan quotas for the draft will be determined on the basis of the number of men in Class 1A and not on the basis of the population of the commun ty and State involved, as was the practice under the first draft call. The pending bill would authorise calling out from time to time a certain per cent. of Class 1 men.

Among the arguments of the objectors to the bill is one that the community receives no credit for the number of volunteers it may have supplied. Another objection is that in some divisions local boards have been more strict than in other communities and deferred classification thereby denied to a larger number of men.
